“Our passion from the very beginning.”

Timka and Helmut collect aluminum lids from coffee cream portion pots.

Collecting is a part of you.

Stamps celebrate history, coins breathe new life into the life of historical figures, and trading cards tender to our hobbies, childhood memories or favorite sports. No matter what collectable lets our heart skip a beat, collecting is so much more than merely storing items. Preserving, displaying, safekeeping are the true passion that drives us all. Leuchtturm has been committed to designing accessories for collectibles for over a century, and we will continue sharing this passion with you.

Collecting is a part of us.

We know that collecting is deeply interwoven into the very fabric of our human being.

Even though the original spark that initiated this passion may differ, the devotion and dedication we share towards carefully selected keepsakes not only unites us, but grants a pure moment of bliss once we hold that long awaited treasure in our hands.

An experience we all know to well.

For more than 100 years now, we have been accompanying you on this journey of collecting, no matter where in the world or what age, always by your side as trusted companion with just the perfect accessories to safeguard your treasures in the present and for future generations to come.

Collecting in itself is so much more than merely keeping or storing things.
It is the history and stories behind them that gives them value.
An adventure through the ages that we cherish and share with others.

We know how important collecting is to you,
how seductive the hunt can be.
We share your passion and provide a stage and frame to shape and honour your very own collection.

Dear Collector,

The Leuchtturm brand is recognised internationally for the highest quality standards in collecting systems for both philately and numismatics. For more than 100 years, people around the world have been placing their trust in our high-quality products and have used Leuchtturm accessories for preserving and transporting their treasured collections.

This includes collector's albums, sheets, collection drawers, etuis and cases as well as a wide selection of coin capsules and catalogues. We are also able to provide optical accessories such as magnifiers, microscopes, lamps or cleaning and care products. The illustrated albums from the Kabe and Moc brands, as well as all items under the Hawid label, complete our philatelic range.

This diversity is also complemented by an ever-growing range of accessories for other fields of collecting, notably bottle caps, beermats, champagne caps, autograph cards, tickets, minerals, pin badges and lots more besides. After all, we firmly believe that everyone has the potential to become a collector!

However, this hobby is ever-changing. Other fields of collecting become fashionable, and habits change. Leuchtturm is reacting to the changing times with new products that fulfil the wishes of customers. To achieve this, we constantly combine two principles: tradition and innovation.

Over the past decades, our brand has become a global leader in its field. Our products are available in over 100 countries from expert retailers of coins and stamps.

2-Euro commemorative coins:
the number one coin collecting topic

A coin with many faces

For almost 20 years, excitedly checking their wallet or received change at the supermarket has been part of everyday life for millions of Europeans.

Since 2004, a collecting fever has taken Europe by storm. The 2-Euro commemorative coins have become a success story, and there is no end in sight to the 2-Euro boom. Quite the reverse, prices for sought after rarities, such as the legendary Grace Kelly coin from Monaco, have surged, and new rarities keep emerging thanks decreased mintage numbers of commemorative coins in circulation in many countries.

Euro coins in circulation:
a breath of fresh air thanks to Croatia

Pocket change with great impact

How does the saying go? A penny saved is a penny earned. The name might have changed, but the saying is more relevant than ever: Eurozone coins in circulation, i.e. cents and Euros, continue to be very popular with collectors.

The launch of the Euro in Croatia has breathed new life into the world of collecting coins, and many people in the UK have taken up this fascinating hobby. Yet even the old Eurozone nations are still good for an interesting surprise.

French commemorative coins

A festival for collectors and sports fans

All eyes will be on Paris in 2024: the capital of France will be hosting a sporting event of historic significance with top performances in 28 disciplines. This will be the third time since 1900 and 1924 for Paris to host the event. This proud nation will be inviting the entire world to come to France and cheer for their favorite athletes.

The “Monnaie de Paris” is commemorating this historic sporting event in the shape of coins and will mint an elaborate and ambitious collection. The numismatic start for the designers and engravers at The Paris Mint began back in 2021, when France issued the initial commemorative coins depicting sports motifs.

The copper coins accelerated to the sporting event of the decade in no time at all – from an insider tip to a global success. This magnificent series will have featured 15 selected disciplines in total between 2021 and 2024. Each discipline depicted is strictly limited to one million coins. For many coin collectors around the world, this series has become a must have leading up to a major sporting event.

Coins from the United Kingdom

The end of an era

There are not many coins that really deserve the title “historical”. Changes of throne, anniversaries or other major events are honoured on coins from all over the world every day. However, when the most minted woman in the world passes away, the coins from the period of transition to her successor become historical documents.

Since 8 September 2022, it is not only the death of Queen Elizabeth II that has been the focus of world attention – coins from Great Britain have also been in high demand. Just under a month after the Queen’s death, the Royal Mint presented the first portrait of King Charles III on coins.

After the Royal Mint had already received worldwide recognition for its commemorative coins for the change of throne, the traditional mint caused a sensation shortly afterwards: the already minted Britannia investment coins with the Queen’s likeness, which had already been produced for the minting year 2023, went on sale – and the motif was changed during the minting process. From then on, there were two different versions of one and the same coin in one minting year – a numismatic curiosity that is unrivalled.

But not only the commemorative coins from Great Britain, but also the classic circulation coins are in high demand among collectors. This is because King Charles III will also feature more and more often in change in the UK in future. And the British have a long tradition of collecting coins out of their wallets – just think of the 50p coins, many of which have developed into modern rarities.

We are currently experiencing several premieres that will probably only occur in this form once in the history of mankind and coins. For this very reason, it is appropriate to preserve the minted history of our times in the form of coins – and to keep them in a worthy setting. Because one thing is certain: coins from the years of a change of throne were and are particularly coveted by collectors.

Silver coins:
this year's on-trend theme

Investment meets aesthetic value

Maple Leaf, Kookaburra or Queen's Beasts – these silver coins were basically created for investors. Yet ever more people in the United Kingdom are discovering the potential collector value of these so called: bullion coins.

Over the past few years many issues have increased in price value, far beyond the actual silver value. Indeed, in the investment crisis era, the poor man's gold has shown just how much it is worth.

Gold coins:
all set for new records

Good times for a safe haven

Currencies, rulers and nations have come and gone, but gold has endured. The shiny yellow metal is famous as an eternal currency and serves as inspiration – not only to collectors around the world, but also to investors in search of a “safe haven”. Gold has also gained popularity in Europe ever since the onset of the global financial crisis and is becoming increasingly attractive to more and more individual savers.

Product video

Mix & match
and stackable

Since the birth of modern investment in precious metals in 1967, gold has very much lived up to its reputation as being a hedge against crises and inflation. And the exit from the turnaround in the interest rate, caused by record-breaking inflation, has resulted in a new gold boom. In recent years, we have witnessed all-time highs in the Euro and US Dollar, with glowing forecasts for the future too.

Besides bullion coins, collectors' gold coins are also very popular—and Germany is now very much at the forefront of minting gold coins, despite gold coins being a numismatic taboo in Germany until 2001. With magnificent motifs and weights in every price bracket, coins from the German Mint appeal to both investors and collectors alike. Regardless of whether a gold coin finds its way into a collection or a precious metal depot, high-quality accessories are essential for long-term value retention.

Indeed, both bullion coins and historical collector's items should be in perfect condition to achieve the best price at auctions or when buying. Safe storage and the proper maintenance of both the modern Krugerrand and ancient gold are, therefore, highly recommended to ensure that gold continues to fulfil its function as currency protection for future generations.

Historic coins:
solid investment!

Minted History

Euro coins, bullion coins and zero Euro banknotes are all trending themes. However, leading the pack are the numismatic classics: coins from the German Empire, historic gold coins and other rarities from past centuries that achieve record sums at auctions.

These, in particular, continue to enjoy great popularity, and more and more young collectors are delving into the exciting history of the world with coins that stem from bygone times.

Pocket Art

The end of tangible currency? According to critical voices a possible near future. Arguments made after the recent plans to stop printing 500 Euro banknotes. However, the touch and feel of banknotes will continue to have a special place in our pockets and albums.

After all, there are exciting stories behind banknotes, as testified by the history of the hyperinflation crisis in Germany in 1923. From an artistic point of view, banknotes are also an attractive field of collecting—and historical treasures in excellent condition will not be affected by the rising inflation during 2023, rather they are surprisingly stable in value.

In 2015 an idea comes to life with the introduction of the first issued Euro souvenir banknote.

These banknotes are becoming more and more common in vending machines, at cash registers, ticket offices or simply sold in souvenir shops of many museums, amusement parks or tourist attractions. They are now sold in many countries and are coveted collectibles. The Euro souvenir banknotes are printed by an official printer of Euro banknotes. Consequently, they not only take advantage of using security paper, but adapt security features such as: watermark, a metal stripe in the paper, tactile relief, hologram, microprinting, see-through register, fluorescent/invisible ink, serial letters and a control number. Certain extra characteristics (especially the use of a purple colour) mean they cannot be confused with genuine currency.

Coins from around the world:
a field of collecting for all

Minted memories

History and geography, culture and art—coins are a wonderful way to discover the world.

Indeed, coins from around the world enable us to experience foreign cultures and learn what defines them. What makes it so special: there is something for everyone! Plus, everybody has access to it, whether it be a memory from a trip abroad, something shared with a foreign penfriend or another personal experience that results in discovering your very own passion for coin collecting.

Individual solutions for your personal needs

Leuchtturm offers a large selection of coin capsules for optimal protection of coins, bars and other precious keepsakes. On the following pages you will find a very good overview of the right capsule for each treasure you might have.

In addition to the round coin capsules Grips with rim or Ultra, without rim, which have been tried and tested millions of times and are very popular, square coin capsules under the product names Quadrum or Slab are being used more and more frequently. Oddly shaped or antique treasures can be stored and protected in the new Magic Capsules.

Pressed pennies:
still an insider's secret

Pressed ... for (a) time!

These minted coins from around the world have become an established souvenir and collectible.

It is all based on a simple and fascinating instinct: A coin in circulation is instantly converted into an elongated coin as a souvenir. This idea has proved popular – these elongated coins have been brought back from holiday destinations for many decades and then taken out of the suitcase and placed in the collector's album.

4 Pocket albums for pressed pennies
